

龙
年
安
祥

Professor Man Fong Mei and the AcuMedic - chinalife team cordially request the pleasure of your company at our

Chinese New Year Celebration

Saturday 28th January 2012

Time: 12pm

Venue: chinalife

99-100 Camden High Street, London, NW1 7JN

*Traditional Lion Dance ~ Tea Tastings ~ Chinese Buffet Lunch
Special Presentations on Health and Well-Being*

R.S.V.P no later than 20th January 2012. Email mfm@acumedic.com or call 0207 388 6704

The Year of the Dragon

January 23 2012 - February 9 2013 (Water)

Characteristics: Dragons are dedicated and inspired, driven and successful. They play by their own rules and won't think twice about taking risks. They won't give up their independence for anyone. Dragons will always help others, but their pride means that they rarely ask for help themselves. They attract friends easily with their generous personalities, but deep down dragons are solitary creatures, much preferring their own company to that of others. Dragons are leaders, not followers and their confidence means that they'll usually make it to the top. They have tempers that can flare very quickly and so can sometimes jump to the wrong conclusions. Dragons need to learn to slow down and keep their tempers in check as not everyone has a thick enough skin to cope with their outbursts. Ultimately, dragons are passionate about everything they do, and usually do it in a grand style too

Metal: Determined; metal dragons will fight for what they believe in

Water: Calm; water dragons don't always need to be right

Wood: Artistic; wood dragons enjoy being creative and innovative

Fire: Emotional; fire dragons react quickly and sometimes recklessly

Earth: Rational; earth dragons are level headed and can control their emotions

Polarity: Yang

Compatibility: Dragons are most compatible with a monkey and a rat and least compatible with an ox and a goat

Years: Feb 8 1940 - Jan 26 1941 (Metal), Jan 27 1952 - Feb 12 1953 (Water), Feb 13 1964 - Feb 1 1965 (Wood), Jan 31 1976 - Feb 17 1977 (Fire), Feb 17 1988 - Feb 5 1989 (Earth), Feb 5 2000 - Jan 23 2001 (Metal), Jan 23 2012 - Feb 9 2013 (Water)

Famous Dragons: Al Pacino, John Lennon, Marlene Dietrich, Bruce Lee (Li Xiao Long)

